

The future belongs to those who believe in the their ability

The dreams are the most amazing thing in the life, we all love to dream and love to hope and see ourselves getting better and achieving more each day. Dreams are the only reason that makes people to be happy and force life's obstacles. We always try to set our goals and work hard as we can to reach them.

- Everyone has or desire. Everyone feels that we grow up to be a great person in our life. They work hard to fulfil their dream. It is important to have a dream in life. When we work hard to fulfil our dreams, then only we can achieve or achieve anything. I want to be a geologist in my life.
- Everyone has to set small and big goals to fulfil their dream. I can become a geologist only when I can complete the courses of bachelors in geological field studies. Right now, I am completing school education. I need to go through the geological branches and their applications to know about the geoscience. My ultimate goal is to become a geologist.
- Someone has rightly said, “miracles can happen when you give more importance to your dreams in front of your fears”. Dreams are necessary but this can only happen when you dream big with all your heart. Only then you will be able to achieve the big dream. As students dream to achieve good marks, make good friends, get support from family and do something big in life.
- Like others, I too have dreamed of developing my career from a young age. I aspire to become a famous writer and write and publish a novel. I was never good at talking orally. It is my nature that I do not like being frustrated even if someone says anything to me.
- I choose to remain silent during such situations. It is not that I cannot answer but as I said “I choose” because I am a peace-loving person. I am also a little introverted person and do not like to openly communicate with everyone. It is not good to open heart and show feelings and desires because it can stress you.
- From a very young age, children dream of becoming big professionals. They are fed with the importance of building a successful career. Everyone asks them about their purpose in life and career is the most focused. They set a goal and give their best to achieve the same.
- While it is very important to establish yourself professionally, what people forget is that investing is equally important to nurture relationships, health and other aspects of life. So if you can dream about a rocking career then why not also dream of a good relationship and great health?
- Everyone has a career dream. As children, I too had a dream of becoming a scientist and when I grew up I was fascinated by Bollywood actresses and wanted to become an actress, but that was only when I had completed my 12th standard. , I realized that I was of a technical mind and decided to get into engineering.

- There is no harm in dreaming big but choose your path wisely keeping in mind your ability and other aspects. Do not set unrealistic career goals.
- Everybody dreams, some have a dream in their eyes, some have thousands of dreams, some have small dreams and some have big dreams too. Since childhood, we are fascinated by many things and weave thousands of dreams.
- Some dreams and desires keep on increasing with our age and we keep trying until the end to fulfil them. Dreaming is very important.
- The dream does not mean the dreams that we see after closing our eyes, but rather we should see the dreams that we want to achieve in our life in any way and through this dream, we can make our life successful and happy.
- We should teach our children that dreams, dream big dreams, these are the dreams that can make you a better person one day. And it is not only dreaming but also the desire to fulfil them, there should be courage and perseverance which will help to make your dreams come true.
- It has been rightly saying, “Miracles happen when you give your dreams as much energy as you give to your fears.” Dreams are necessary. This is only when you dream big with all your heart and you will be able to achieve big. As students dream to get good marks, be good friends, take support from family and make it big in life.

Second subject

Knowledge is equally important in everyone's life because it plays a very important role in one's life when s/he gets stuck in some problems. A quality education is impossible without a good teacher. Teachers are not only important for the students but also for the Society. The presence of teachers in any function, programme or social events adds some moral values to the time.

Our Parents are our first teacher as they have taught us to speak, walk and to respect others. In the same way we can also say that our teachers are not less than our parents who observe our activities, tell us our mistakes and motivate us to do our best.

Importance of a Teacher:

It is impossible to describe the value of teachers in few lines. A teacher provides good citizens which help developing their country. If a man/woman is successful in his/her life then it is because of the efforts of his/her teachers. Teacher is like God in our life and also we must treat them like that. A teacher is not only a person with certain duties that he/she has to perform but he/she is an inspiration to the whole world.

Apart from all the other things, the happiness of a teacher lies in the success of the students. The students remain completely depend on the teachers for proper guidance and education. The teacher helps us in becoming good citizens and by this we become able to serve our nation.

Qualities of an Ideal Teacher:

We don't need to describe the quality of an ideal teacher as it is represented by many teachers from time to time. An ideal teacher is the one who completes the definition of a teacher. He/She is full of many good qualities and always works towards the betterment of the students of the nation.

A good teacher understands the value of time and thus never postpones his/her responsibilities. They perform their duties systematically. They are the source of politeness and helpfulness. Instead of discrimination, they treat every student equally.

Teachers are the need of the society and they have the power to change the history of the nation. They are highly respectful and we must never forget their importance in our life.

Paragraph on Teacher 7 (400 Words)

A teacher is the creator of the future of a generation. S/He is the person who plays the lead role in shaping the career and the future of a child by developing his/her mind and filling it with the great knowledge of the world. A teacher makes a child understand what is right and what is wrong that is why he is also called the 2nd parent. It is a teacher who leads you to the path of success and glory by minimizing your faults and showing you the right path.

Qualities of a Teacher:

A teacher can be a good teacher only when he possesses certain qualities that can make him/her an ideal teacher. The most basic quality that a modern teacher should have is to have a good command over his/her teaching subject. This is how s/he will be able to solve every single doubt of his pupils.

What comes next in the list is a good teaching manner. It is very important to be an effective teacher. Besides a good knowledge, one can't be a good teacher if s/he does not have teaching manner. It comes from experience.

A good teacher should always have love for his/her students without any discrimination but it does not mean that s/he should be emotional. A teacher should never be emotional because it is an obstacle to be an ideal. The teacher should never be confused and must have the ability to express his/her thoughts.

Relation between a Teacher and a Student:

A teacher and a student both are incomplete without each other. The teacher should have the highest regard for a student after his/her parents. Also the teacher should be impartial to all his/her students and always work for their growth. A good relation between a teacher and a student can only be made by providing a good educational environment.

As said that the student must always respect his/her teachers, in the same way the teachers should also respect the student and his/her opinions. The love and care for student should be according to the time, for example the love for a child of play group is much different from than the love for a child of higher classes.

A student is nothing without a good teacher so we should always respect our teachers and obey them. They just want our well being and in return of that we must give them huge respect. Love and respect your teachers.
