

نبأ عبد الحسين حسن

Dr. Wadhah Razooqi Abbood Supervisor

Postgraduate students administration system

Abstract

In this research, a postgraduate student management system was developed to provide a social communication center for their administrative work related to postgraduate studies at the university. This system can help streamline processes such as innovation, registration, and student absence management. Graduate student management can help facilitate the student registration process, shape the university's student population and manage a large pool of prospective students, as well as the students who will be accepted. Improve student records management: Graduate student management can help reform the university with accurate and upto-date records on each student, including attendance. At the end of the research, the database was created, which includes linking a number of tables with attributes and relationships Relations (resulting from the conversion using the Visual Studio 2012 application).